Redmond On The Job Training Comes To Redmond

Redmond

2018-01-12

Sam Stout, a junior energy systems engineering student at Oregon State University-Cascades, didn't have to go far to find on-the-job training. He is working as an intern at Composite Approach, a company that designs and builds composite aircraft, vehicles and other items near Redmond Municipal Airport. He said the company give him unique experience that he might not otherwise get. READ MORE....
